Fig 1: Fine leukotrichia at scalp

A 45-year-old housewife complained of progressive total hair loss over the scalp within a few months. She attributed the hair loss to the recent hair dyeing. Apart from the alopecia, she did not have any symptom over her scalp. The clinical photo showed the appearance of her scalp one year after the present episode (Fig.1). History revealed that she also had a similar episode of total hair loss over the scalp five years ago, which subsequently recovered within two years.

Questions:

1. What is your diagnosis?
2. What is the chance of complete hair regrowth and recurrence?
3. What are the prognostic factors in this condition?
4. What are the treatment options available?
